GREAT SLAUGHTER IN THE HOUSE

Without Hesitation.

Killed by Vote of 63 to 70 -- Several Senate Measures Are Also Nipped in the Bud .- A Strong Scatiment Against the Proposition to Extend the Session.

Harrisburg, June 15 .- The senate discovered that it had last evening concurred in the resolution extending the time for the oleomargarine investigation although the house had defeated the resolution. Upon a motion of Mr. Coyle, the resolution was sent back to the house.

The act taxing certain stocks of building and loan associations for state purposes passed finally. After much discussion the bill limiting the number of inmates of state penal institutions to be employed in manufacturing goods therein and prohibiting the use of machinery in manufacturing the goods, passed finally.

The bill providing that licensed brewers shall sell to licensed dealers not less than a dozen pint tables or in packages of not less than an eighth of a barrel and further than one person or association can owe or control two breweries upon the payment of $1.000 license for each passed finally. After the passage of a number of bills on second reading, the senate adjourned until tomorrow.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

The house started in this morning to slaughter everything in sight. The bicycle bill was taken up first and killed by 63 yeas to 70 nays. The measure levied a tax of one dollar a year on pleasure carriages, tricycles and bicycles not equipped with pneumatic thres and three dollars on traction en-

The amended direct inheritance tax bill was taken up next and read but on motion of Mr. Marshall, of Allegheny, it was postponed for the pres-

The club license bill was allowed to go over and may never be called up. The direct inheritance bill is in shape to be called up at any time.

The pool bill slipped through on sec-ond reading and the bill to provide for the licensing of engineers and persons operating engines and steam bollers in cities of the first class was postponed indefinitely. The bill amending the Flinn road act to allow county commissioners to erect bicycle paths along public highways was postponed for the present to prevent its defeat. The house showed no mercy on the senate bills which came up for third reading and several, all of which were of minor importance were defeated. The bills to repeal the road law in German township, Fayette county, and authorizing cities to appropriate private properties for park purposes passed finally. Pending a discussion on the senate bill to validate conveyances and other instruments which have been defectively acknowledged, the house adjourned at 12:40 until 3 o'clock this afternoon Senate bills on third reading was the order at the afternoon session. The members continued to slaughter bills to even up matters with the senate for refusing to take action on the Bliss beer bills. There is a strong sentiment in the house against the proposi tion to extend the session until the middle of July. Unless the senate passes the beer bills there is talk of the house standing by the resolution to quit July 1. The most important bills were postponed by their friends to prevent their probable defeat.

These bills passed finally: Authoriz ing the transfer of wholesale or retail liquor licenses from one person to another and from one place to another; relating to the number of overseers of the poor to sign certain petitions and regulating and establishing the fees to be charged by constables.

A long debate was precipitated by Mr. Harris, of Clearfield, in moving to reconsider the vote by which the resolution to extend the time within which the committee to investigate the oleo scandal in Westery Pennsylvania in connection with the pure food bureau shall report. Mr. McElhenny, of Allegheny, started the debate with a strong speech in favor of the resolution and was followed by Mr. Hosack, of Allegheny, chairman of the committee.

SEVEN WITNESSES MISSED. Mr. Hosack complained that seven of the most important witnesss have fled the state and are staying away until after the committee has made its report. He promised that if the investigation was continued these witnesses would return to the state and appear before the committee and give testimony. Mr. Baldwin, of Delaware spoke against the resolution and claimed the purpose of the investigation was the sale of oleomargarine. Messrs. Gould, of Erie, and Sexton, of Montgomery, warmly advocated the motion to extend the time of the com-

Mr. Harris sought to shut off debate by moving the previous question, but the motion fell for the lack of the proper number of "seconders." Mr. Hosack reviewed the evidence adduced by the committee and made another appeal for an extension of time. Mr. Gilmore, of Philadelphia, closed the debate with a speech in favor of the motion.

A motion to indefinitely postpone the motion was defeated by 70 yeas to 89 nays. Several members wanted to talk on the original motion and Mr. Sterr, of Philadelphia, cut off debate by moving the previous question, which was

The main question was then put and the motion to extend the time of the committee was defeated by 77 year to 83 nays, after which the house adjourned until 8 o'clock.

The house was thrown into a state of great excitement tonight by Mr. Connell, of Lackawanna, moving to discharge the ways and means commit-tee from further consideration of the Bliss horizontal tax bill. The speaker ruled the motion out of order, whereupon Mr. Connell moved to suspend the rules. Mr. Scott, of Philadelphia, called for a division of the question and the motion to suspend was defeated by 39 yeas to 106 nays. The committee will meet tomorrow to take action on the bill. There is a strong sentiment in the house in favor of the measure, but the opposition have succeeded in tying it up in committee. Mr. Connell will renew his attempt to bring out the bill when resolutions are in order if the committee does not act upon the proposition in the meantime corporation. A bottling and supply company of Philadelphia recently made application to the state department for an amendment to its charter so as to give it additional power to buy, sell and deal in vinous, spirituous and malt liquors at

The department refused to allow the amendment on the ground that the act f June 25, 1895, under which the proceeding was drawn, was not broad enough to authorize the incorporation of a company for the purpose or to so broaden the powers of a company already in existence by amendent to its

The Attorney General sustained the department and directed that the application for amendment be refused. This opinion is one of considerable importance, as it will prevent the incorporation of companies to engage in the wholesale liquor business.

CYCLING LAWS IN EUROPEAN LANDS

Those of Germany Not Unlike Those of This Country.

COURTING AWHEEL IS RESTRICTED

Riders May Travel Side by Side Only When It Does Not Interfere with Traffic .- Wheel Must Bear Name, Address and Occupation of Owner. Police Given Almost Absolute Authority -- Few English Wheels Are Shipped to American Market.

Many of the current reports of European consuls, recently received at the state department, are of especial interest to both bicycle riders and manufacturers in the country, as showing several phases of the prevailing cycle craze in sections of the old world. George Sawter, United States consul at Glauchau, Germany, in his annual report makes the following comments upon bicycling in Germany, which will prove valuable to American cyclists who may contemplate a cycling tour of Europe:

"Complaints are very frequently made by traveling American bicycle riders in Germany of obstacles and delays to their travel caused by the very presented by Mr. Phillips, of Chester. vigorously enforced laws governing the use of bicyclists on the public roads in this country. For the benefit of these American boycle tourists a few of the more strictly enforced rules which cyclers are called upon to observe throughout the German empire are cited. "Cycling on public streets and roads is subject in this country, and particularly in Saxony, to minute and most carefully enforced pelice regulations which, indeed, in many places prohibit entirely the use of brakeless machines The roads are, as a rule, with but few exceptions, perfect, and wheeling is smooth and easy, but on account of the rainy weather which prevails most of the year, wheel guards for wet days are indispensible, LAMPS, BELLS AND BRAKES. "Every machine must have an oper plate or shield, affixed to the rod of the brake or handle bar, and be provided with a spring lid, on which is engraved in clear lettering, the name, profession or rank, and residence of the rider of the bicycle. In lieu of this, the card of the rider, with address, &c., might be attached to the handle bar, which would be in compliance with the law, and would temporarily answer every requirement in this way. The alarm bell is, of course, demanded everywhere. The law requires that the night lamp be rather highly placed on the wheel, and be kept lighted by the rider when traveling from within half an hour after sunset to half an hour before sunrise; furthermore, the light must shine through uncolored glass before the rider. "Each bicycle must be provided with an easily-managed brake, operating quickly and powerfully. Cycling on roads exclusively intended for pedestrains or on elevated footpaths of highways is strictly prohibited. Two bicyclers may ride side by side, when it can be done without blocking the thoroughfare or annoyance to other riders of vehicles; otherwise, single file is the rule.

"More than two machines are not alowed to occupy the road side by side with other bicycles. When approaching passages of the road where is not possible to see a clear distance, or when going down a steep descent, the Stars' grounds. Answer in the Trithe cycler is obliged to give frequent bune. J. Cook, captain. and measured distance signals with his bell, as a matter of strict precaution in avoding collision and to excite the attention of roaders in the vicinity. A moderate speed of riding must be maintained at all times. Cycling at an extraordinary speed, or 'scorching,' is forbidden on the highways everywhere in Germany. "At very steep down grades of the roads the cycler must dismount and guide his wheel until the descent is passed, before remounting. Cyclers are also required to dismount at any time if called upon by police officials to do so and are obliged to give such official any information he may deem necessary to demand. For disregard of any of the above rules and regulations fine not to exceed 60 marks ($14.28) may be imposed, or imprisonment in jail for not more than two weeks, or both may be inflicted for each offense."

THOSE ENGLISH WHEELS.

The bicycle industry in England is also treated by George F. Parker, United States consul at Birmingham England, who, after quoting statistics regarding the total disappearance of the demand which formerly existed in this country for wheels of British make, proves that affairs have completely veered around and that the best wheels sold in England are now those of American make. The report then goes on:

"The trade with the United States in eycle materials continues to decline. No complete bicycles have been sent to the United States from this district since my last report. On the other hand a good many machines of American nanufacture have been sold even in this district. It is not safe to predict how long this demand will continue, but as trade conditions in general have improved during the past year it s likely that a considerable number of machines of good quality may be sold

"If the demand for cyclists continues tories have been engaged to the full limit of their capacity, greatly enlarged though it has been from time to drawn into this branch of manufacture from other trades during the past year. Some branches of business long stagnant have thus been turned into paying properties for the time and much idle labor has found employment at good WELLER.
